Sir Henry Kissinger—A Mastermind of the Pilgrims Society's Plot to Annex America Into The British Empire

A Sinister Scheme Born in 1902: The Pilgrims Society’s Imperial Ambitions Finally Being Dragged Into The Light!

Substantial evidence exposes Sir Henry Alfred Kissinger as a central figure in the British Pilgrims Society’s audacious plan to subvert American sovereignty and drag the United States back under the yoke of the British Empire. This clandestine operation, rooted in the imperialist vision of Cecil Rhodes, was hatched on July 16, 1902, in London, with its American “branch” established mere months later on January 13, 1903, in New York. For over a century, this shadowy organization has woven a web of influence, with Kissinger at its heart during his most active years, orchestrating a silent coup against the American Republic.

Cecil J. Rhodes (1853-1902), Privy Council, DeBeers, Rothschilds—the spectre behind the British Pilgrims Society and their Oxford Rhodes Scholar grooms.

Kissinger: The Pilgrims' Puppet Master in America's Halls of Power

Henry Kissinger, knighted by the British Crown (KCMG), was no mere statesman but a loyal servant of the Pilgrims Society, spying for British interests since the late 1940s. His meteoric rise from a young U.S. Army intelligence officer to a global power broker was no accident—it was engineered by the Pilgrims' self-anointed elites. By age 22, Kissinger was embedded in U.S. Signals Intelligence, working under OSS chief William J. Donovan, a Pilgrim, and taking orders from British intelligence figures like Pilgrim Sir Stewart Menzies (MI6) and Pilgrim Lord Rothschild (Bank of England). His loyalty was not to America, but to the Pilgrims' vision of a "new world order" under British control.

Kissinger's influence peaked as he and fellow Pilgrim Paul Volcker served as vice presidents of the American branch of the Pilgrims Society from 2002 to 2019. Together, they masterminded the 2008 financial crisis bailout, funneling trillions to Pilgrims-connected banks like J.P. Morgan Chase, BlackRock, Vanguard, Fidelity, State Street, Citigroup, Bank of America, Rothschild Brothers, Baring, Lloyds, Barclays, NatWest, and Goldman Sachs, ensuring the enrichment of their globalist cronies while American taxpayers bore the burden.

The Pilgrims' Iron Grip on the White House: Nixon to Clinton

While the Pilgrims Society's influence over the White House dates back to Theodore Roosevelt, this exposé focuses on Kissinger's productive era, where he was a key enforcer. From Nixon to Obama, the White House was a Pilgrims stronghold:

- Nixon (1969-1974): Kissinger, as National Security Advisor and Secretary of State, orchestrated the abandonment of the gold standard on August 15, 1971, establishment of the Petrodollar, a move that enriched Pilgrims bankers and shifted global finance to their control. Paul Volcker briefed select Pilgrims in London the next day.

- Ford (1974-1977): Kissinger retained his iron hold, aligning policies with Pilgrims interests, including OPEC's rise as a financial weapon to replace gold.
- Reagan (1981-1989): Pilgrims heavyweights like Alexander Haig and George Shultz, both Kissinger allies, ensured Reagan's administration toed the globalist line.
- Bush (1989-1993): With Pilgrims like Caspar Weinberger and Thomas Kean in the inner circle, the administration advanced the Pilgrims' agenda of centralized banking and intelligence control.
- Clinton (1993-2001): Kissinger's influence lingered through Pilgrims-connected advisors, ensuring policies favored globalist institutions like the IMF and World Bank.
- Obama (2009-2017): Kissinger and his Pilgrims sidekick Paul Volcker led the Pilgrims as vice presidents in the US as the directed the evolution of the 2008 bank bailout.

This wasn't governance—it was a Pilgrims dictatorship, with Kissinger pulling the strings during these critical decades.

A Web of Interlocked Self-Annointed Elites: The Pilgrims' Power Network

Kissinger's influence stems from his deep ties to a sprawling network of Pilgrims Society members across politics, finance, media, and royalty. Below is a detailed map of his interlocks, revealing the extent of their control:

Political and Diplomatic Interlocks

- Margaret Thatcher (Pilgrim, UK Prime Minister): Kissinger's transatlantic partner, Thatcher shared his vision for a unipolar world under Anglo-American (Pilgrims) dominance. Their collaboration strengthened NATO and global financial systems controlled by Pilgrims banks.
- Lyndon Johnson (U.S. President): Johnson's administration was a Pilgrim, with Kissinger advising on Vietnam policies that enriched Pilgrims defense contractors; the Pilgrims role in the assassination of JFK is unmistakable after JFK threatened to expose the secret society (Pilgrims) and dismantle their Federal Reserve creation largely owned by The City of London banks.

- Alexander Haig (Pilgrim, Secretary of State): A Kissinger protégé, Haig ensured Nixon's and Reagan's alignment with Pilgrims goals, particularly in military and intelligence policy.
- Lord Carrington (Pilgrim, NATO Secretary General): Kissinger and Carrington coordinated global security policies, cementing Pilgrims control over Western defense.
- Thomas Kean (Pilgrim, 9/11 Commission Chair): Kean's role in the 2008 bailout and 9/11 investigations protected Pilgrims interests, with Kissinger's guidance.
- George Shultz (Pilgrim, Secretary of State): Shultz, a Kissinger ally, advanced deregulatory policies that enriched Pilgrims corporations.
- Mike Pompeo (Pilgrim groom, Secretary of State): Though not explicitly named in accessible Pilgrims lists currently available, his mentorship by Pilgrims Sir Caspar Weinberger, makes his membership almost certain. Pompeo's omissions in Senate disclosures suggest ties, given the Pilgrims' "Five Eyes" intelligence network.
- Klaus Schwab (Pilgrims groom, World Economic Forum WEF): Klaus began his WEF work after being mentored by professor Henry Kissinger at Harvard at the JFK School of Government, International Seminar.

Financial and Corporate Interlocks

- Paul Volcker (Pilgrim Vice President, Federal Reserve Chairman): As Kissinger's co-conspirator, Volcker helped dismantle the gold standard and orchestrated the 2008 bailout, funneling wealth to Pilgrims banks like Chase Manhattan (now J.P. Morgan Chase).
- J.P. Morgan (Pilgrim, Banking): The Morgan dynasty, a Pilgrims co-founder, funded Kissinger's initiatives and benefited from his policies.
- John D. Rockefeller (Pilgrim, Oil Magnate): A Pilgrims co-founder, Rockefeller's Chase Manhattan Bank was Kissinger's financial base, with David Rockefeller mentoring him directly.
- Winthrop Aldrich (Pilgrim, Chase Manhattan): Aldrich was US Ambassador to the Court of St. James in London. His banking empire supported Kissinger's Pilgrims agenda.

- Mark Carney (Pilgrim, Bank of England Governor): Carney's role in global finance continues the Pilgrims' legacy of political monetary control, with Kissinger's influence in the background.

Media and Propaganda Interlocks

- Henry Luce (Pilgrim, Time Magazine): Luce's media empire spread Pilgrims propaganda through Time, Life, Fortune, with Kissinger shaping narratives and a cover-feature an inordinate amount of times.

Time Magazine (Henry Luce) Tavistock Institute Mind Control Propaganda Promoting The Pilgrims' 'Annex America' 'New World Order' Agenda:

- David Sarnoff (Pilgrim, RCA/NBC): Sarnoff's control of RCA and NBC amplified Pilgrims propaganda, with Kissinger as a frequent guest.
- Walter Cronkite (Pilgrim, CBS Anchor): Cronkite's reporting aligned with Pilgrims goals, reflecting Kissinger's worldview.

- George Will (Pilgrim, Columnist): Will's writings echoed Pilgrims ideology, with Kissinger's influence evident.
- Peggy Noonan (Pilgrim, Speechwriter): Wall Street Journal, NBC News, ABC News, Noonan's Reagan-era speeches carried Pilgrims themes, guided by Kissinger's circle.
- Dick Carlson (Pilgrim, Media Figure): Father of Tucker Carlson, Voice of America director, UPI, Hollywood Foreign Press Association, Corporation for Public Broadcasting (CPB) president, Organization for Security and Co-operation in Europe, Intermedia.
- Tucker Carlson (Pilgrim, Media Figure): Fox News, CNN, Crossfire, MSNBC, The Daily Caller founder, now independent The Tucker Carlson Show, confirmed as a member in the 2004 Pilgrims Society roster with his father, Carlson's early career in establishment media reflects his cooperation with Pilgrims networks. If he has changed his mind about his Pilgrims association, he needs to say so. Confirmation of his membership was well hidden and just fell into our laps.

Historical and Institutional Interlocks

- Charles Dawes (Pilgrim, U.S. Vice President): Dawes' role in post-WWI reparations laid the groundwork for Pilgrims financial dominance, later advanced by Kissinger.
- Allen Dulles & John Foster Dulles (Pilgrims, C.I.A. & State Dept.): The Dulles brothers, Pilgrims stalwarts, built the CIA and State Department as Pilgrims outposts, mentoring Kissinger, Allen Dulles was on The Warren Commission investigating JFK's assassinations.
- Elihu Root (Pilgrim, Carnegie Foundation, CFR): Root co-founded the Pilgrims Society, setting the stage for Kissinger's rise. Root was a political powerhouse at the founding of the Pilgrims in 1902, U.S. Secretary of War (1899-1904), U.S. Secretary of State (1905-1909), NY U.S. Senator (1909-1913), founding president, Carnegie Endowment for International Peace (1910), Nobel Prize (1912), founder of the Council on Foreign Relations (1918), personal attorney to J.P. Morgan and Andrew Carnegie.
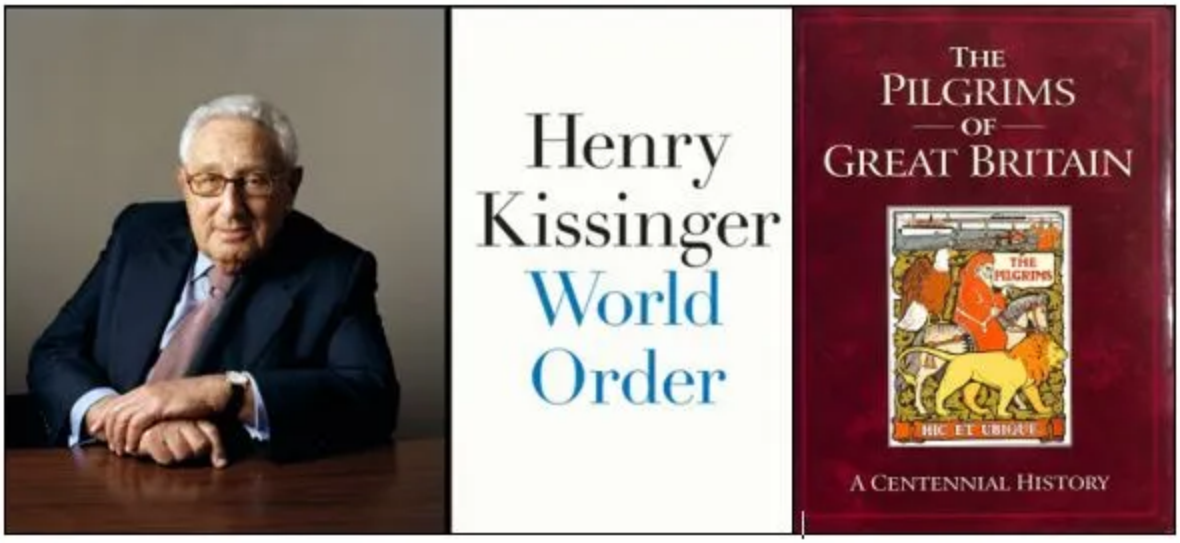
- Nicholas Murray Butler (Pilgrim, Columbia University): Butler's academic influence shaped Pilgrims ideology as president of the Pilgrims in New York (1903-1945), mentor to Pilgrims William J. Donovan (OSS, C.I.A.) J. Edgar Hoover at the formation of the FBI.



Royal and Cultural Interlocks

- King Charles III (Pilgrim, British Monarch): As titular leader of the Pilgrims, Charles III symbolizes the Society's imperial roots, with Kissinger's policies aligning with Crown interests.
- Douglas Fairbanks Jr. (Pilgrim, Actor): Fairbanks' Hollywood influence spread Pilgrims propaganda, with Kissinger leveraging cultural sway.

Organizational Interlocks

- Council on Foreign Relations (CFR): Co-founded by Pilgrim Elihu Root, the CFR was Kissinger's platform for globalist policies.
- Carnegie Foundation: A Pilgrims funding arm, founded by Pilgrim Elihu Root, it supported Kissinger's academic rise.
- Rockefeller Foundation: Rockefeller's largesse bankrolled Kissinger's initiatives.
- Tavistock Institute: Funded by Pilgrims, Tavistock's mind-control research aligned with Kissinger's geopolitical strategies.
- Bank for International Settlements (BIS): Kissinger's policies enabled the BIS to launder Nazi and Japanese gold, enriching Pilgrims self-anointed elites.

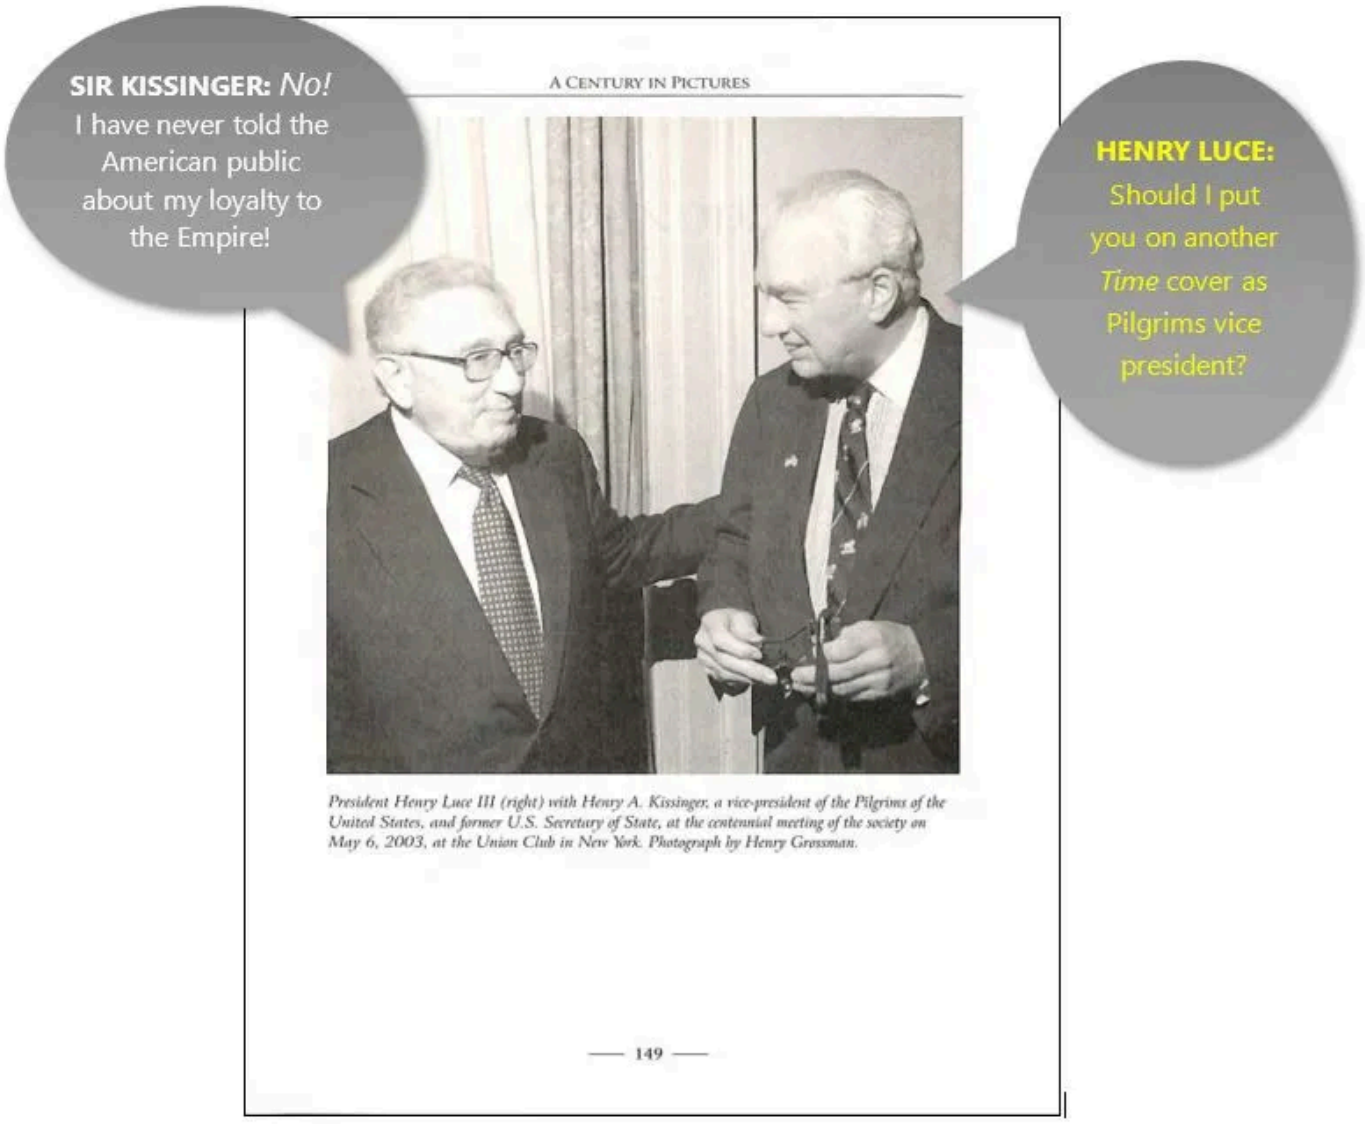
- Five Eyes Intelligence Network: Kissinger's ties to this ultra-secret Pilgrims-controlled network founded on Mar. 05, 1946 ensured Pilgrims Society intelligence dominance to this day.

The 2008 Bailout: Kissinger and Volcker's Pilgrims Power Grab

The 2008 financial crisis was no accident—it was a Pilgrims-orchestrated heist. As vice presidents of the American Pilgrims Society, Kissinger and Volcker oversaw the bailout, hired by Obama, channeling $700 billion (and trillions more in secret loans) to banks like J.P. Morgan Chase, Goldman Sachs, and Citigroup—all Pilgrims strongholds. This wasn't a rescue; it was a transfer of wealth to the Pilgrims' inner circle, cementing their control over global finance.

Kissinger's Fraudulent Silence: A Traitor's Omission

In his 1973 Senate confirmation hearing, Kissinger disclosed ties to Harvard, RAND Corp, and the CFR but concealed his Pilgrims Society membership—a material omission constituting fraud. This deliberate silence hid his allegiance to a foreign power, undermining the American Republic. His British knighthood (KCMG) further exposes his true loyalties.



Anne Pimlott Baker. (2003). The Pilgrims of the United States – A Centennial History, p. 149, PDF p. 85. Profile Books (2003). Kissinger was a vice president of the Pilgrims Society in 2003, Anne Pimlott Baker, p. 194, PDF p. 85, at May 6, 2003. Henry Luce III was president of the Pilgrims Society in 2003 and was publisher of Time, Fortune, Sports Illustrated magazines. The influence of the Pilgrims BBC/Sarnoff/Empire Press Union et al is obvious. Reproduced for educational purposes only. Fair Use relied upon.

The Pilgrims' Endgame: America's Subjugation

The Pilgrims Society, inspired by Cecil Rhodes' dream of Anglo-Saxon dominance, seeks to erase American independence. Kissinger's role—spanning intelligence, finance, media, and politics during his productive era—has brought this plot perilously close to fruition. From the gold standard's demise to the 2008 so-called bank bailout, his actions have enriched the Pilgrims while weakening America.

Call to Action: Unmask the Pilgrims!

This exposé is a clarion call: the Pilgrims Society's grip on America must be broken. Kissinger's treachery, alongside his interlocked allies, demands accountability. The American people deserve transparency—investigate the Pilgrims Society, expose their members, and reclaim the Republic!
